Meeting Highlights

Whatever the significance of the fez, Evan started last week's meeting with a flourish. And what a meeting it was! First things first. Norm Buben inducted two new members: Andrew Messer and Alice Jarminski.

Roy Jefferson, president of the Anaheim Hills club, stopped by to announce their club's Music Festival set for Sunday, Sept. 4 (12 noon to 8:00 pm) at Oak Canyon Nature Center. For ticket info call (714) 283-5336 or 998-2020.

Our featured guest speaker was none other than Orange County's "Top Cop," Tony Rackauckas. Within the county, he oversees 23 police departments and 35 agencies. His talk focused on what the DA's office does for law enforcement. The numbers shown on his slide presentation were impressive. For example, in 2004 they handled 80,000 cases with a 90% felony conviction rate. Following his talk he fielded a great number of relevant questions from our membership.

Thank you, Jose, for landing this important speaker!

Orange County
District Attorney

This is no Happy Buck . . .
this is one Happy Doe!
Get it? Jayne Doe.*

* Sorry, Jayne; just couldn't resist this play on words. What a great smile!

Jim Ruth announced the Arrowhead Pond has thrown their "hat in the ring" as one of the sponsors of our Golf Classic. Thank you, Jim, for your hard work in obtaining this big name.

Rose Honoring Rotary's Centennial Wins International Award

By Tonya Weger, Rotary International

15 August 2005

Bred to mark the 100th anniversary of Rotary, the "Heart of Gold" rose exceeded all expectations, going on to take first prize in the world-renowned Belfast International Rose Trials.

The hybrid tea rose, with its dusky peach petals and delicate perfume, has already raised more than US$36,000 for The Rotary Foundation of RI. For every rose bush sold 20 percent of the £7.95 (about $14) purchase price, including value-added tax and carriage, is donated to the Foundation.

"We are delighted that this rose has received international recognition winning the gold medal and Prize of the City of Belfast in the trials last month," says David Cobban, a member of the Rotary Club of Aberdeen St. Machar, Grampian, Scotland, and chair of the club's Rose Committee. "The 'Heart of Gold' rose project is a means of not only marking the centennial of Rotary but is also an imaginative way of generating much needed funds for [The] Rotary Foundation."

Aberdeen is sometimes called the City of Roses, according to visitscotland.com, the official site of Scotland's national tourism bureau. With this, it is no surprise that the fundraising initiatives from District 1010 came up rosy. "We are delighted with the response so far," Cobban says.

The rose was bred by one of the foremost rose breeders in the world, Aberdeen's James Cocker and Sons. The breeder holds a Royal Warrant, a prized mark of excellence and quality.

With an unmistakable beauty, "Heart of Gold" also has an excellent resistance to pests and disease. The plant is bushy and upright with an abundance of large, dark green, glossy leaves.

Individual Rotary clubs are encouraged to plant "Heart of Gold" roses in prominent locations throughout their locality, highlighting the celebration of 100 years of service to communities worldwide, while also encouraging support of The Rotary Foundation.

Those with less of a green thumb may be interested in purchasing an exclusive limited-edition print of a watercolor painting of the "Heart of Gold" rose that District 1010 had commissioned by prominent botanical artist Rodella Purves. Only 250 individually signed prints will be sold.

All profits from the sale of the prints, which may be purchased for £75 (about $136), will be donated to The Rotary Foundation. View this representation of the "Heart of Gold" rose.

Orders for prints or rose bushes can be placed at the District 1010 sponsored "Heart of Gold" Web site. Rose bushes can be purchased directly from James Cocker and Sons by e-mailing sales@roses.uk.com.

Rotary's Four-Way Test

of the things we think, say or do:

Is it the TRUTH?

Is it FAIR to all concerned?

Will it BUILD GOODWILL and BETTER FRIENDSHIPS?

Will it be BENEFICIAL to all concerned?
