Scheduled Meetings and Dates to Remember

JANUARY- ROTARY AWARENESS MONTH

January Work in progress;
scheduled speakers to be announced.

Newsletter Highlights

Even though the crowd was light – due to the MLK holiday – our speaker kept everyone's attention front and center with his great life story. Against all odds, he survived a life-threatening brain condition and continued playing ice hockey; at least until he was hit by a puck in the forehead! Very inspirational story at best.

And speaking of ice hockey . . . the Rotary turnout for the District Night at the Ducks was also impressive. Too bad the players couldn't have given the audience a better game for their money. What exactly does one call a Duck slump?

Warning: Rotary-Related Spam Emails

The latest wave of e-mail “phishing” scams targeting Rotarians are especially confusing because the senders' addresses appear to be coming from the “rotaryintl.org” domain used by the Secretariat.

Rotarians should keep in mind that Rotary International will not ask for personal information to be updated via email or other electronic means. Any e-mail that appears to be from the rotaryintl.org domain requesting that Rotarians “confirm account information” by clicking on a link or else their “account will be suspended for security reasons” should be deleted immediately.

Rotarians who may have submitted sensitive personal information such as member access passwords, security codes, or credit card numbers as a result of such a scam are advised to change that information immediately.

Phishing scams, such as the one targeting Rotarians, involve imposters posing as account administrators who attempt to deceive unsuspecting e-mail recipients into divulging personal information, including passwords, credit card numbers, bank account numbers, and other sensitive data. Learn more about how to spot and avoid phishing scams.

Club members should also take precautions when including e-mail addresses on Web pages and online forums where privacy is compromised. By sharing e-mail addresses in messages that are posted on Rotary club or district Web sites that are not secure, Rotarians may unknowingly make themselves and their clubs vulnerable to scams.

All Rotarians are encouraged to read the Rotary International privacy policy for information on the proper use of membership data.

Rotary Launches New Interactive Publication

See another side of Rotary in a new electronic publication, Rotary International Interactive. Each month experience the mission and fellowship of Rotarians and young adults involved in programs such as Rotaract, Interact, and Ambassadorial Scholarships.

Interactive premiered with its September 2006 issue, which focused on the longstanding Rotary priorities of literacy and education.

The publication goes beyond words to tell Rotary's story using photo essays, videos, and other media. In the first issue, a narrated photo essay depicts a woman in Turkey who was born without arms and learned to read and write at age 18 through a Rotary program. Other articles feature Rotarians in Ohio who encourage the children of migrant workers to read as well as Rotaractors in Kentucky who tutor grade-school students. If you're wondering how to start a literacy project or want to take your current project to the next level, you can e-mail a literacy expert for advice. In the September issue, you'll also find a profile of Rotary's Indiana Jones, a Rotarian whose job as an archeologist takes him far and wide in search of answers about the mysteries of ancient religions.

In every issue of Interactive, you'll be able to read advice from the RI president and send in your own questions, which you might see answered in upcoming issues.
